Notes of Interest

We are including these notes in our new catalog to help home gardeners in the Greater Washington area establish gardens that can be depended upon to give a more satisfactory show for the entire season.

Some of the plants described here are new varieties that have proven superior, others are older varieties that are not as well known and widely used as they should be, and others have the characteristics of adaptability to a wide range of conditions, favorable and unfavorable.

We introduce them to you, you introduce them to your garden. Using these plants and bulbs as a foundation, the garden can be completed with other desirable perennials, bulbs, and annuals. This way, your garden will be in continuous bloom, regardless of the success you have with hard to grow favorites and oddities that most gardeners like to try.

FOR THAT SHADY SPOT— HELLEBORUS

To bring interest into your garden where it is a little too shady for most perennials, we highly recommend the Christmas Rose, or Helleborus. Thriving in a shady location, in well drained but continuously moist soil, this perennial blooms in our climate from December through February. Flowers are large and single, in white and reddish purple colors.

As cutflowers the Christmas Roses are very unusual and long-lasting. The foliage is leathery and evergreen, attractive all summer. Unless you already have a lime soil, the Christmas rose usually benefits by the addition of a little lime.

PHLOX DIVARICATA Wonderful Perennial Ground Cover

To solve the question of a perennial ground cover in your Spring-flowering bulb beds, try Phlox Divaricata. Not to be confused with the original small-leaved strain, this new Phlox Divaricata has proven hardy through hot summer or cold winter, provided its location is fairly well drained. This is truly a far superior strain of Phlox Divaricata.

Very little used, this phlox is valuable enough for its year 'round evergreen foliage. In the Spring it presents its blue flowers all during the tulip season. The flowers are on stems tall enough to "tie in" even with the leggiest tulips, yet not at all in the way of any of the lower growing bulbs. Does very well in part shade, and stands our hot summers, even if planted in full sun.

ASTER FRIKARTI ONE OF THE FINEST

A very nice blue or lavender-blue flower that does nicely in this area is Aster Frikarti. Very easily grown in ordinary garden soil, it makes an excellent show in either full sun or part shade. The flowers are single, 2 to 2½ inches across, and the plants grow about 2 to 2½ feet tall. Blooms profusely all summer long. We consider this one of the finest and most reliable perennials for any garden.

RELUCTANT DELPHINIUMS

If someone were to write a ballad entitled The Washington Gardener's Lament, the first three verses would bemoan the reluctance of delphinium! However, there are a few things we want to point out.

Plant Delphinium in the Fall, in a rich, well-drained lime soil. Probably a partially shaded location is best. With good timing and good weather, delphiniums planted in the Fall make a very nice show for that season, and then in the Spring and early Summer cannot be surpassed for beauty in the garden, as well as cut flowers. However, if your delphiniums thrive through our hot summer and produce again in the Fall, consider yourself either an excellent gardener or exceedingly lucky.

In short, treat delphiniums as annuals, to be planted every Fall for best results.

LYTHRUM THRIVES IN POOR CONDITION

Those of you that have what you consider IMPOSSIBLE GARDENING CONDITIONS should try the strain of Loosestrife or Lythrum, known as Morden's Pink. This very hardy perennial seems qualified to adopt itself to any and all conditions, and along with it, is one of our most attractive ever-blooming perennials. Grows 3 to 4 foot tall in sun or shade, dry or wet soil, and bears numerous spikes of pink florets all through the summer. Excellent for cut flowers.

PLATYCODONS

Some perennials especially desirable in this area do much better if planted and then left undisturbed in that location. One of these is Platycodon (Balloon flower) offered in two forms: Grandiflorum with a height at maturity of about 20 inches; and Mariesi as a dwarf, growing to about 12 inches. Platycodon prefers a sunny location, but is not to be overlooked for use in partial shade. Sometimes mixing sand in the bed, or raising the level of the bed corrects the drainage problem. Platycodon blooms all Summer, and is offered in blue, white and flesh pink. A light well drained soil is best for this perennial.

SUMMER-FLOWERING HELIOPSIS

To get variety in color in these standby plants, start with Heliopsis Goldgrunherz (Gold-green-heart) for a good solid yellow. Unquestionably hardy, this newest Heliopsis is famous for its ability to produce great numbers of flowers all Summer long on plants 3 to 4 feet tall. Foliage is a good deep green and the flower shows a small green heart when first opening. Any rich garden soil will grow this Heliopsis.

COLORFUL PENTSTEMON

Not all of our favorite Perennials have everything, but for some real outstanding colors try Pentstemon. Though it has not always proved hardy, it is well worth the extra trouble a little winter protection might be. The colors run from deep pink in dark red, on foliage that seems to be pest free. The flower form is very similar to the foxglove flower. Pentstemon blooms all summer long, and prefers a sunny location with a rich, loamy soil.

HARDY LILIES

Lilies make wonderful accent points throughout the border, and contrary to belief, are not at all difficult to grow. One of the first to be planted in any garden should be the Madonna Lily (L. Candidum). Its snow white flowers appear freely on 3 to 4 ft. stems during June and July, and are delightfully fragrant. If your Madonna Lilies are already established let us recommend the Estate lily. This one blooms just a little later, stalks about 4 ft. high, with numerous extremely large, pure white trumpets.

HYPERION ANYWHERE

One of the perennials that will grow almost any place, and can be transplanted any time is Hemerocallis, variety Hyperion. It will not bloom all summer, but does its producing during July and part of August. Many light yellow flowers are carried on erect 3 ft. stems. Hyperion's foliage is desirable for its graceful arching effect. Extraordinarily vigorous and easily grown. Very fine as a cut flower, and remember, it is a member of the "wet or dry soil, sun or shade location" class.

USEFUL HYPERICUM

For the large space that you want to fill as attractively as possible, consider Hypericum Moserianum. This can be used either as a specimen plant in the border, or massed as a blooming ground cover. Also very useful along shrub borders to cover bare lower branches of taller shrubs. Hypericum grows about 18" tall, and spreads about 2 ft. From early summer until frost large golden yellow flowers adorn the plant. Hypericum is not too particular as to soil requirements.

GOOD NEW BUTTERFLY BUSH

Another large plant, classified as a shrub, is Buddleia (Butterfly bush). One of the newest and most desirable varieties in this group is Empire Blue. The symmetrical bloom spikes are a very deep blue, and are present in great numbers all Summer until frost. Very easily grown, and requires no special care.

ASTILBE MOST VERSATILE

It is unfortunate that some home owners are limited in plant materials that can be used in their gardens because of too much shade, and/or too much moisture. It is very fortunate, on the brighter side, that there are some plants that can be used to advantage under these conditions. Mentioned before in this letter were Helleborus, Lythrum, and Hemerocallis Hyperion. Another one that is adaptable to a wide range of conditions is Astilbe—often called Spirea. Astilbe has flower spikes ranging from white to deep red and bronzy-green deeply cut leaves that are beautiful all of the growing season.

The foliage rarely grows over one foot tall, but the flowers are tall spikes, sometimes 2 ft. higher than the leaves. Blooming during June and early July. There is room for this perennial in every sunny garden, and gardens with too much shade and moisture could very well use Astilbe in varieties for the predominant material.

Good Spring-Flowering Bulbs

Since Fall is the time to plant Spring-flowering bulbs, it should be the best time to discuss good varieties.

To begin with, the Red Emperor Tulip, of the species fosteriana, is undoubtedly the most sensational tulip of all times. Flowers are easily twice the size of ordinary tulips, colored a brilliant scarlet beyond description, with its black base edged yellow. Height from 18 to 20 inches. Plant some of these for their dazzling effects.

DOUBLE TULIPS

Also very popular in our display and test gardens last Spring were the double late tulips, Mt. Tacoma and Uncle Tom. Both are of the Peony-flowered types, and create a very striking effect, whether planted in small groups or massed. Mt. Tacoma is a giant double and pure white, truly magnificent when blooming along with the Darwins. Uncle Tom is a large fully double blackish-red, a distinctive shade all of its own. Height at maturity of both, 18 to 20".

NIPHETOS—DARWIN TULIP

A very outstanding Darwin is Niphетос, reaching a stately 26 to 28" in height, with a soft yellow color, excellent for the blending of stronger shades. Very strong stem, and long-lasting flowers.

DAFFODIL—GOLDEN HARVEST

Because of its extremely large size, and rich golden yellow color, we consider Golden Harvest to be the superior yellow trumpet daffodil. This one flowers very early and is exceptionally hardy.

FOR SOFTER COLORS

Beersheba and Rembrandt

There are any number of trumpet daffodils in yellow and gold of the richer shades, but for real softness in colors try Beersheba for an all pure white, and Rembrandt will give pleasing variety with its all pale yellow flower. Both are the giant flowered long trumpet types, and excellent growers.

DAISY SHAEFFER

Of the numerous varieties of Narcissi, we select one of the Leedsi Narcissi, Daisy Shaeffer. The large perianth is pure white, while the short trumpet is a soft shade of gold. Surprisingly vigorous for all of its apparent demureness and subtle color differences.

Before You Decide On Your Roses...

For those of you with rose gardens, and others that intend to start their rose collection this Fall, we want to mention some roses of exceptional merit.

CLIMBING HYBRID TEAS

Not enough people realize that there is such a thing as an Everblooming Climbing Hybrid Tea Rose. Except for their climbing habit, these roses are exactly like the bush hybrid teas. Since they are climbers, don't expect too much flowering during their first growing season. Our climate seems to suit them very nicely, but to give them a chance to become well established, protect them from Winter injury the first Winter. All of the climbing hybrid teas will do well here, so you have a wide selection to choose from.

BUSH ROSES

For new Hybrid Tea Bush Roses that are really decided improvements over the old, we highly recommend these:

Golden Anniversary, Mme. Marie Curie, New Yorker, Nocturne, Sutters Gold.

FLORIBUNDAS

Outstanding among the Floribundas are Goldilocks and Red Pinocchio. Plant the Floribundas around the edge of your rose bed or in beds of their own.

GOOD NEW WHITE CLIMBER

We have had numerous requests for a large flowered white Climber that will do well in this area. We offer one that is very well qualified to fill this order—City of York. Opens to a delightful creamy white, and is one of the hardiest.

CHOICE PLANTS

EXCEPTIONALLY FINE, LARGE FLOWERING

GUARANTEED ORIGINATORS' SEED

For many years we have advocated the planting of Pansy Seedlings in the fall and our customers have really taken to the idea. Since then, more and more garden enthusiasts have become convinced that this is the best time to plant pansy seedlings.

You have blossoms all winter, even covered by snow; you can enjoy the first large Spring blossoms and get the benefit of the entire blooming season; and last, but not least, you save quite a bit of money by purchasing them in the fall. Yes, seedlings take a little care but if started in the fall your reward is certain.

Delphiniums

EVERBLOOMING—SUN OR PART SHADE

Delphiniums undoubtedly belong to the most graceful, elegant perennials and yet they are not grown as profusely as they deserve to be.

FOR BEST RESULTS plant them in groups of six. Choose any kind of location but they do want a rich well-drained soil.

Delphiniums are relatively easy to raise and under proper care they should grow to a height of from 5 to 7 feet. The lovely shades of blue, purple, pinkish to white create a charming color effect and they make wonderful cutflowers.

PACIFIC GIANT HYBRIDS—Mixed

Ever-Popular—Everblooming

Climbing Hybrid Tea Roses

THIS FALL DO NOT FAIL to plant a few everblooming Hybrid Tea Climbers since they are always scarce in the Spring.

EVERBLOOMING CLIMBING HYBRID TEA ROSES are especially well suited for our Washington climate. They are identical in color, size of blossoms and continuous blooming with the Bush Hybrid Teas, except for their climbing habit. While they are reasonably hardy here, nevertheless the first year they should have some winter protection—burlap or straw being sufficient.

Hybrid Rhododendrons

OUR RHODODENDRONS MUST BE SEEN TO BE APPRECIATED IMPORTED DIRECT FROM HOLLAND

These fine specimen plants we are proud to offer you as an outstanding value. They are beautiful, low branched bushy plants, have survived severe winters and dry summers out in the open. Many show buds READY TO BLOOM NEXT SPRING. Rhododendrons being scarce, we were fortunate in securing an excellent selection, many varieties in all colors, from deep red, purple, white, pink to lilac, etc.

Hybrid Rhododendrons can be planted in full sun or part shade. They have a tendency to grow leggy and spindly if planted in too shady a location.

We Recommend:

Mix your soil with Michigan Peat — $\frac{1}{2}$ bushel per plant — and provide good drainage. Be sure not to plant too deep. Rhododendrons are shallow feeders. Mulching with decaying oak leaves will provide the proper acidity. ALSO add some compost as food for good growth and bloom. Water frequently in dry weather.

THE ARISTOCRATS OF CLIMBING PLANTS

Beautify Your Garden with this Unusual Plant

A FEW LARGE FLOWERING CLEMATIS IN YOUR GARDEN will take very little room and care and will grow in part shade or on north side of the house. BE SURE TO ASK FOR PLANTING INSTRUCTIONS.

ENGLISH HYBRIDS—Large flowering, choice selection and varieties.

DUCHESS OF EDINBURGH—One of the finest double white, similar to a Gardenia. Good for pillar treatment. Blooms on year old wood. Prune only dead wood in late February or March.

JACKMANI—Rich violet purple. Most popular. Often 10 ft. Blooms entire summer and early autumn. Cut back plants 3 ft. in order to encourage strong new wood.

LADY BETTY BALFOUR—Velvety purple. All summer. In early spring it should be cut back half way to get the full value of its beautiful blossoms.

LAWSONIANA—Extremely large blossoms, shiny blue, flushed mauve. June to Sept.

LORD NEVILLE—Plum colored velvet. Average height and long blooming season.

MME. B. VEILLARD—Medium size lavender rose. 10 to 12 ft.

MME. LE CULTRE, Novelty. Large single white flowers.

NELLY MOSER—Pale mauve and white petals with red bars. A rare beauty. Profuse bloomer and sturdy.

RAMONA—Beautiful lavender blue. Exceptionally good. Blooms during the summer months.

THE PRESIDENT—Gorgeous reddish violet blossoms. Blooms freely the entire length of its 10-foot vines.

VILLE DE LYON—Abundance of carmine red flowers. July to Sept. 8 to 10 ft. Rare and luxurious.

Each $1.75, Three $4.50

SOIL, PLANT FOODS, ETC.

Very few perennials will be perennial if the SOIL IS NOT RIGHT FOR THEM. The importance of proper soil preparation for perennial beds, rose gardens, shrub borders, bulb beds, etc., cannot be stressed too much. Deeply prepared beds make for more permanent gardens.

Listed on this page are the necessary items to assist you in giving your plants the soil that they need to get started right and keep growing.

In the winter too, KEEP YOUR THUMB GREEN with AFRICAN VIOLETS. the most satisfactory of all house plants.

Notes at Randon

WHEN TO PLANT . . .

Concerning rain—plant before a rain (if you are a better weather prophet than the Weather Bureau) but never during or just after a rain. Wait until the soil is dry enough to crumble or fall freely from your hand after squeezing. If soil particles adhere to each other or form mud ball—it is too wet. New roots cannot force their way into earth that has been caused to cake by planting when the soil is too wet. Never let the soil get hard and cracked around the plants.

GOOD-LOOKING PLANTS . . .

Cut off old flower heads—conserves strength; prevents self-seeding (choking out of parent, usually a hybrid); prolongs blooming period, and keeps border looking neat.

DRAINAGE . . .

If drainage is a problem in your garden, try raised beds. Logs, flagstone, bricks, or just sloping the sides of the bed will prevent rain from washing soil out.

ON THE LOOK-OUT FOR INSECTS AND DISEASES . . .

Very often the difference between a garden that blooms only in the Spring and one that blooms from Spring 'til Fall is a spraying or dusting program. A search for insects and fungous diseases should be made at least once a week, and control measures taken.

For Superior Quality Plants You May Depend on Behnke Nurseries

NEVER TOO MUCH MANURE . . .

It is almost impossible to put too much well-rotted manure in the average perennial border.

THOUGHTS ON CULTIVATION

Shallow cultivation is good for your flower beds (or perennial borders), discourages weeds, conserves moisture, gives the garden a well kept appearance; loose soil aids in keeping roots cool and moist, and it is good exercise.

Always cultivate after fertilizing, but never when soil is too wet.

ORGANIC PLANT FOODS . . .

Organic fertilizers are best—they condition the soil and feed the plants at the same time.

NO FERTILIZER IN PLANTING HOLE . . .

If fertilizer is not worked in beds at least a month before planting, do not put it in the hole with the plant; add it to surface of bed about one week after planting, and work in while cultivating.
